Plant Trees.

Save Lives.

Be Effective.

Eden Reforestation Projects is planting millions of trees every year in impoverished countries. Ninety percent of the new trees go to restore healthy forests. Ten percent of the trees planted are fruit and construction trees that directly benefit people. This combination helps bring back healthy eco-systems, which provides clean water and fertile farm soil.

Eden cares for the poor by hiring them to restore their own forests and plant their own orchards. Newly empowered, they can buy their own food, send their children to school and pay for their own medical needs. In addition, Eden is working to preserve and restore natural habitats for the conservation of animal life. In this way, everyone benefits.

Eden will plant a minimum of 10 trees for every dollar donated. This means ERP is likely the most cost effective reforestation program on the planet. Eden is already positively impacting nations like Ethiopia and Madagascar. Consider making Eden Reforestation Projects your environmental, compassionate and cost-effective response to the global ecological crisis...
